Description

The lightweight and portable NARDI ATLANTIC series of breathing air compressors are manufactured in conformity with international air quality standards. Small in size and great on performance, the ATLANTIC is the most compact model of breathing air compressors NARDI manufactures. It is easy to transport and suitable for both private and professional use. The electric model is available in a 60 L/min single-phase (E1) version and a 100 L/min version in both in single- and three-phase (E3). Despite its small size, the ATLANTIC is a powerful compressor, built with top quality materials to guarantee performance and reliability throughout its service life.

Optional accessories can be installed to your NARDI compressor by the Nuair production team. All NARDI compressors are bench tested by Nuair prior to shipping.
